boast low prices. Some shops order flowers from a big plantation and unless they buy an extremely large amount of them, there is overhead, and thus the price to the customer is higher. Not to mention, these flowers have a chance to age and wither during the road trip over to the store. Shop attendants who pick the flower and cut it right in front of your eyes, are really preferable, as you can be sure of the quality.

The rise in the number of diseases may be attributed to the increasing globalization of the world. The increase in people traffic from one country to another has made containment of diseases harder and more complex. Thanks to technology again, man has invented ways and means to keep modern diseases from spreading.
